Sickies, of New York, (afterward General Sickies), who had married a Spanish beauty for no other cause, and upon no other pretest, than the sexual one. The cases are dissimilar in incident only from the fact that Key was killed on the spot. It was a big sensation, as it was en affair in high life. Sickies was denounced for the honor-cide greatly on partian account, by political and political journals, and much because Key was an historical character, having written the Star Spangled Raaner, we believe; but when, in the face of the most furious ex-cation, he took his wife back -as if I been his honor that was smirched, and he had cleaned it by the m and he had cleansed it by the murder—no stream of denouciation more virulent or pitiess ever followed a man than pursued him. In the high places he afterward held there was virtually no Mrs. Sickles. While our minister at a foreign court he was flayed and pilloried by many journals, especially by the New York. World, which displayed in invective the ability of Junius, and in penlimning of Macasiley. The philosophy of the thing is that Sickles married alone for personal charms, and he lived out bravely the measure of the penalty.

MAT (). HENDERSON in the Georgetown Record quotes the following from the Panola Watchman: "And now the Radical 'outs' want the President to remove Marshal Hal, Gosling, but he is not 'gooxe' eaough to be 'picked' in that way." And says, "No, sir, the Gosling lacks considerable of being a 'young one." The Morgan Argonaus writes: "The report that Mr. H. I. Gusling, United States Marshal, was going to resign, or he was going to get the bounce, is all folly talk. Hal, is the mass of Southwest Texas." And the Light says amen.

CONJUGAL MISTAKES.

Some of our readers may remember the shooting, on the 28th, November last, of Frank logelhart by Rush Tevis, nephewinlaw of General Sherman, on account of the former's adulterous traffic with Mrs. Tevis, daughter of Colonei H. B. Resse, of St. Louis, and niece of General William T. Sherman. The parties were as good as discovered in flagrante desicto, and the shooting was instantaneous. The lady's paramour was not killed, but in a couple of menths recovered from the injury.
